All cap

Geographical sector
Indian Subcontinent

- The Fund invests primarily in equity securities and equity related securities in Indian subcontinent which may expose to potential changes in tax, political, social and economic environment.
- The Fund invests in emerging markets which may have increased risks than developed markets including liquidity risk, currency risk/control, political and economic uncertainties, high degree of volatility, settlement risk and custody risk.
- Investing in small/mid-capitalisation securities may have lower liquidity and their prices are more volatile to adverse economic developments.
- The Fund's investments may be concentrated in a single country/sector, specific region or small numbers of countries/companies which may have higher volatility or greater loss of capital than more diversified portfolios.
- The Fund may use FDIs for hedging and efficient portfolio management purposes, which may subject the Fund to additional liquidity, valuation, counterparty and over the counter transaction risks.
- It is possible that a part or entire value of your investment could be lost. You should not base your investment decision solely on this document. Please read the offering document including risk factors for details.

3. HDFC Bank: Country: India | Market Cap US$140bn

- Nearly 60% of loans and deposits in India are still controlled by inefficient state-owned banks. Well run private banks like HDFC Bank have been gaining market share rapidly. This is expected to continue
- Management has a track record of managing risks prudently. It has maintained industry leading Return on Assets (ROAs) across economic cycles and periods of disruption
- Its loan book has grown at 28% CAGR and EPS by 22% CAGR* over 20 years. The merger with HDFC Limited improves the long-term growth potential of the bank as it can now address the large mortgage opportunity directly. It has led to a short-term increase in funding costs, which should normalize in the coming periods

Steadily increasing market share and earnings per share

EPS means Earnings Per Share.
